

The Gift of Saving Lives Since 1926

At Hanover Hospital, philanthropy defines who we are.

Because of the generosity of our founders, Harper D. Sheppard and Clinton N. Myers, and many compassionate donors, we remain a strong thread in the fabric of our community. Charitable giving has made it possible for Hanover Hospital to improve and advance medical care, and keep up with an increased demand in services. It also has allowed us to expand our reach of services in York and Adams counties and Northern Carroll County, Maryland, and to offer cost-effective health care and programs to all patients, regardless of their ability to pay.

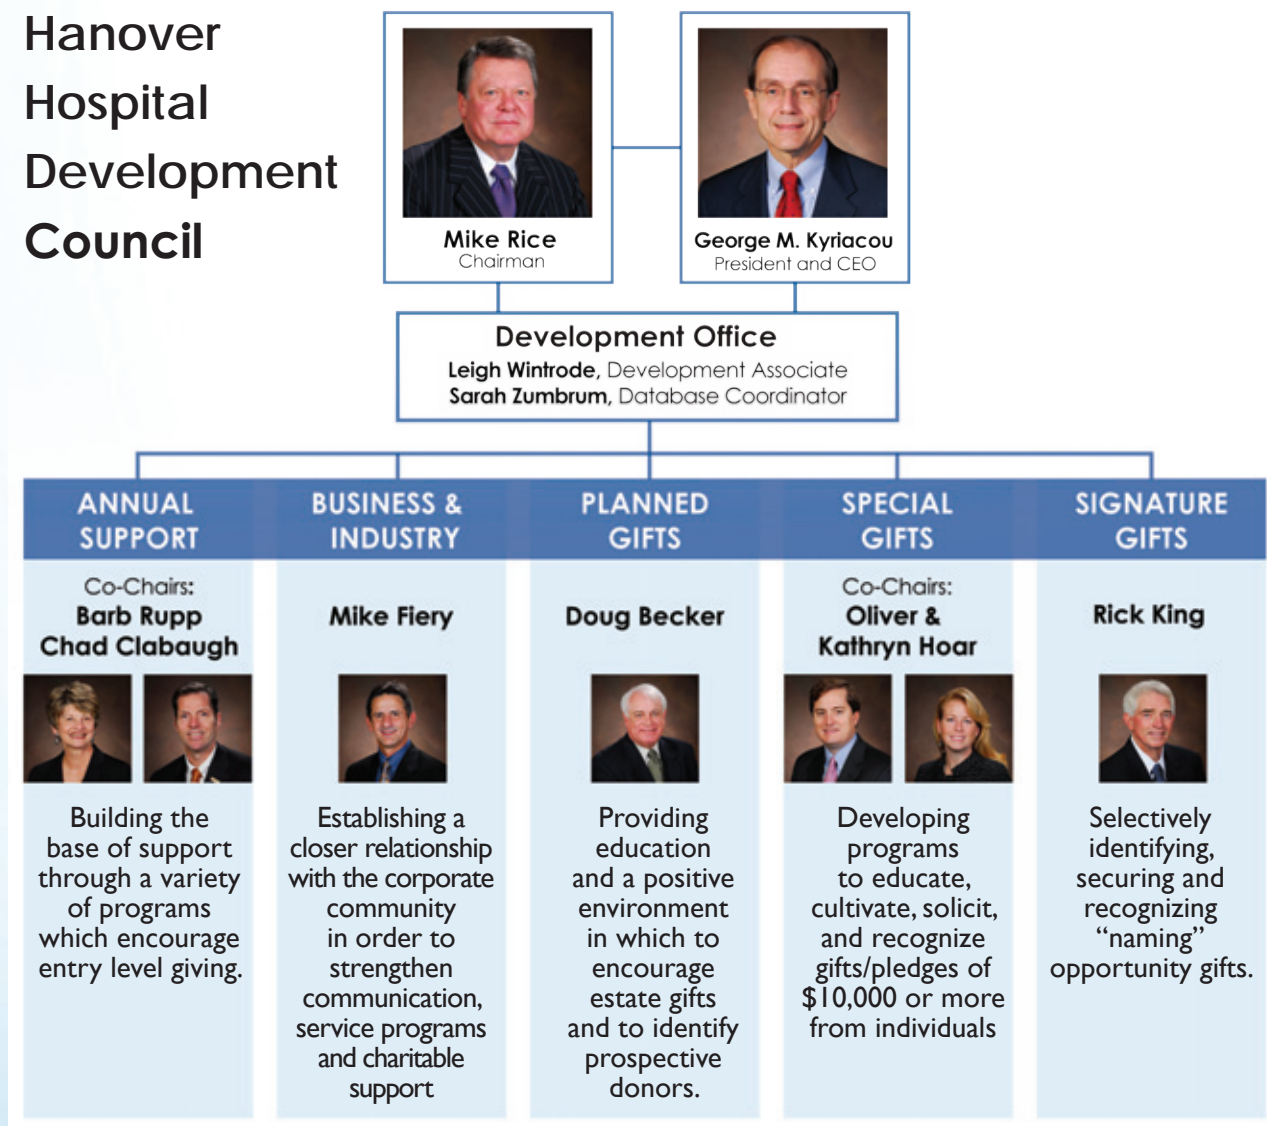

Today, the Hanover Hospital Development Council (HHDC) strives to sustain this pattern of giving and growth. The Council is a volunteer network of established community and business leaders who share a commitment to the institution and to the improvement of the community's health. Under the leadership of Hanover Hospital President & CEO, George Kyriacou, and HHDC Chairman, Mike Rice, the Council's ongoing goal is to work with the community to increase health care services, education, and philanthropic support for Hanover Hospital.
